

1. Consider the importance of initial arrival, welcome and orientation and how this could be approached as a city

Context: Many organisations offer support to those newly arrived in the city, including providing welcome and orientation. However, initial information provided is not standardised and depends upon the organisations approach and remit as well as their capacity to signpost and refer to other organisations. There is no data provided when new arrivals are moved into the city, and people are reliant on the Home Office subcontractors and/or word of mouth to find out about organisations and services. There have been attempts in the past to create a space that acts as a 'hub' for those newly arrived, and a pilot project in the NE region that provides all new arrivals with a single point of contact. It is felt that more could be done to support with this crucial period when people initially arrive in Newcastle.

Key achievements:

- A hub / one stop shop / first central point of contact approach

Action Foundation continue to run their weekly drop-in which aspires to be a first central point of contact. If you would like further information and/or to support this work by attending the drop-in please contact, Yvonne Cheung yvonnecheung@actionfoundation.org.uk

- A new arrivals packs/web information that individuals and organisations can access

Support for Asylum Seekers and Refugees – Information Now

Through the updated InformationNow resource page there is the facility to print out the information with a covering welcome page, making a welcome pack that is up to date and translatable. We rely on organisations keeping their details up to date and aim to encourage and support with this via InformationNow attendance at the CityWide meetings and the Sanctuary Forum. For more information and/or to add details to this page please contact, Lauren Hoy Lauren.Hoy@newcastle.gov.uk

Outcomes:

- A hub / one stop shop / first central point of contact approach
- A new arrivals packs/web information that individuals and organisations can access
- Provide a standardised initial contact form to ensure that organisations have the data that they require to refer/signpost
- Single Point of Contact – explore how has this worked with Mears in other NE local authorities

2. Ensuring the correct information is available, in the most accessible format, to both sanctuary seekers and organisations supporting sanctuary seekers

Context: There are information resources available including support organisations, drop-ins and ESOL providers in the city, however these are in English, online and rely on people knowing how and where to access them, as well as organisations details being kept up to date. It is felt that more could be done both in terms of accessibility and visibility of information.

Key achievements:

- Build on established resources such as InformationNow to centralise and maintain key information and,
- Promote existing information so that organisations have the knowledge to signpost and refer

3. Identify opportunities for collaboration between support organisations to make best use of limited resources

Context: We are fortunate to have experienced and committed organisations in Newcastle that provide support to those seeking sanctuary. There are established mechanisms for organisations in Newcastle to come together to share information and develop partnership working, this includes the Newcastle CityWide Multi-Agency Group, as well as through joint projects and initiatives. However, the continual erosion of resources within the sector and the need to constantly 'do more with less' risks undermining efforts to work collaboratively. The need for co-ordination and ability to identify where partnership working would maximise limited was identified as an opportunity to consider within the role of the Sanctuary Forum. Consideration equally needs to be given to ensuring that appropriate feedback loops to ensure continued improvement.

Key achievements:

- Explore initiatives to promote 'Sanctuary Awards' and/or 'Sanctuary Seeker/City of Sanctuary lens' to appraise organisations

Recent awards include Baltic Art Gallery of Sanctuary and Newcastle Foodbank of Sanctuary both of these were the 'first' within their category (art gallery and foodbank) in the UK. There are also a growing number of schools involved in the work and applications are due in 01.07 for this year's awards.

4. Maximising opportunities to harness the goodwill of people supporting the work in the city, including people with lived experience

Context:

There are a wide range of individuals and organisations who support the aims and values of City of Sanctuary and there are a number of ways that people can get involved in this work, through volunteering, activism, financial donations and more. It is felt that more could be done to harness the goodwill of people and maximise opportunities for people to support the work

5. Increase the 'reach' of the City of Sanctuary values, narrative and ideas

Context:

There are some inspiring case studies from individuals as well as the collaborative work in the city that could and should be celebrated. It is felt that more could be done to expand this to support more people in the city to understand the issues, the work in the city as well as the positivity that comes from being a diverse and welcoming city.
